AMBIENT VOL.1 produced by master of analogue Ian Boddy

Level Matching. The samples on this disc have been matched in level during recording. Set the input level of your sampler for one sample only, as all subsequent samples will peak at the same level, avoiding the need for continual adjustment. However, bear in mind that the average level of some sounds may well be relatively low with the occasional transient or resonant peak.

Mono/Stereo. The majority of samples are in mono, however a selection are in stereo where the stereo image was felt to be an integral part of the sound's character. These sounds are marked in the index thus (s).

Effects. The majority of the samples are recorded dry, however a selection do have effects such as reverb and echo applied where it was felt this was integral to the sounds character.

Sound Quality. Every effort has been made to obtain the highest sound quality by compiling and mastering the sounds digitally. However some of the the old analogue sounds may have some inherent noise, as well as some tape hiss being evident on some of the old tape delay/loop atmospheres. Equalisation has been applied to minimise extraneous noise wherever possible and it is felt that the best possible sound quality has been obtained with what, after all, are some fairly unique sounds which are by and large unreproducible on modern day equipment.

Analog Tool Kit. A series of raw analogue waveforms are provided which can be combined in numerous ways on your sampler to produce some very interesting textures. It was felt better to give you, the user, the choice of setting your own envelopes/filter/LFO settings. The majority of samples are tuned to C3 although a little fine tuning may be necessary once they are in your sampler.

Percussion. The selection given here is not intended to be a totally comprehensive range of sounds but rather a more select choice of unusual and interesting drums/percussion as well as some different ways of playing more familiar instruments.

Have Fun. The majority of the sounds were specifically programmed for this disc. Think of 700+ sounds as a giant jig-saw puzzle that can be combined in as many different ways as your imagination allows and above all have fun in creating your own personal sound pictures.

The Music. Ian Boddy is one of the UK's leading synthesists having released several independent albums, the last two, Odyssey and Drive being on CD. His music could be best described as instrumental synthesiser music and several snippets of his work crop up on this CD. If you would like more info on his music then write to:- Something Else Productions, PO Box 16, Consett, County Durham. DH8 8YZ. ENGLAND.
